DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claim Objections

1. Claim 8 is dependent on cancelled claim 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims1-6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 22, 25, 26, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byrd US 6,081,899 in view of Rubin US 5,638,446 in view of Lloyd US 6,691,231.

As per claim 1, 2, 4, 8, 10, 11, 12, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 22, 25, and 26 Byrd discloses a method for authenticating and electronic message (Col 2 lines 6-7). Byrd discloses a client (user) creating a message, (Col 4 lines 32-34) and sends the message to be authenticated by a server appending a timestamp and digital signature (Col 2 lines 25-27, Col 4 lines 16-22). Byrd discloses the message is forwarded to the recipient, (Col 4 lines 40-45). Byrd discloses that the recipient authenticates the stamp and signature, (Col 2 lines 30-33, Col 4 lines 45-50).

Byrd does not teach creating a digest. Byrd does not teach a log.

Lloyd teaches a log containing a record of a message exchange including digital signatures, timestamps, and other authentication data, (Col 7 lines 16-28).

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to add the log of Lloyd to the message system Byrd because the log provides for accountability and tracking when needed.

Rubin discloses a user creating a digest (hashing) and sending an electronic file to a third party for authentication. Rubin discloses that the third party digitally signs the hash in the creation of a certificate, (Col 3 lines 15-23).

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to add the method of hashing from Rubin with the Third party timestamp, signature, and log of the Byrd-Lloyd combination because the one-way hash allows the third party and recipient to check for tampering.

As per claim 3, Byrd discloses the timestamp indicates when the message was received, (Col 4 line 18).

As per claim 5, Byrd teaches that the message may be email, (Col 4 line 33). It is inherent in email that the electronic address included is that of the sender.

As per claim 6, Byrd discloses attaching at least one legal protection of an official entity (Verisign), (Col 3 lines 16-25).

As per claim 9, Byrd discloses authenticating the digital signature and authentication data, (Col 2 lines 30-35).

As per claims 17 and 21 Byrd discloses the use of the Internet (Col 4 line 6) it would be obvious to one skilled in the art to use TCP/IP.

Claims 13, 14, 23, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byrd US 6,081,899 in view of Rubin US 5,638,446in view of Lloyd US 6,691,231 on view of X.509

As per claims 13, 14, 23, and 24 the Byrd-Lloyd-Rubin combination does not explicitly teach including a digital key with a digital signature and using that key to authenticate the digital signature.

Byrd discloses that the message is sent with a certificate, (Col 4 line 2).

X.509 discloses that the X.509 certificate standard is widely accepted and that the certificate contains the subject's public key.

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to use the X.509 standard because it is widely used, secure and flexible.

Claims 27-31, and 42-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byrd US 6,081,899 in view of Rubin US 5,638,446 in view of Lloyd US 6,691,231 in view of Murray US6,321,333

As per claims 27-31, 42-45 Byrd discloses a method for authenticating and electronic message (Col 2 lines 6-7). Byrd discloses a client (user) creating a message, (Col 4 lines 32-34) and sends the message to be authenticated by a server appending a timestamp and digital signature (Col 2 lines 25-27, Col 4 lines 16-22). Byrd discloses the message is for authorizing.

forwarded to the recipient, (Col 4 lines 40-45). Byrd discloses that the recipient authenticates the stamp and signature, (Col 2 lines 30-33, Col 4 lines 45-50).

Byrd does not disclose creating a digest. Byrd does not disclose exporting a public key

Lloyd teaches a log containing a record of a message exchange including digital signatures, timestamps, and other authentication data, (Col 7 lines 16-28).

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to add the log of Lloyd to the message system Byrd because the log provides for accountability and tracking when needed.

Rubin discloses a user creating a digest (hashing) and sending an electronic message to a third party for authentication. Rubin discloses that the third party digitally signs the hash in the creation of a certificate, (Col 3 lines 15-23).

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to add the method of hashing from Rubin with the Third party timestamp and signature of Byrd creating an electronic postmark because the one-way hash allows the third party and recipient to check for tampering.

Murray discloses getting a digital public key authorized by a certificate authority, (Col 4 lines 1-9).

It would be obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the Byrd Rubin combination with the authorized public key of Murray because the certificate authority is a mutually trusted entity so that the recipient of the key knows the key is trustworthy. Art Unit: 2134

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US 6,148,342 teaches a log being hashed for security reasons.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
